

Hands of Change

Greetings,

The social development of our youth is of critical importance and we aim to create an environment where our youth can thrive and grow to their fullest potential. Hands of Change, Inc. was created as a non-profit organization to meet these needs, including taking a strong stance against bullying within our local schools. We have enlisted the help of renowned American artist Pedro Jermaine who serves as a role model and mentor for youth under the leadership of US Congresswoman Frederica Wilson.

We understand the importance of community service and the feeling of gratification it brings to our community as a whole. Our youth needs positive role models and the help of those who can make a difference no matter how big or small the contribution. There is nothing more detrimental to a child's/teen's development than self-doubt or a lack of self-respect because it will hinder the development of resilience which in itself is priceless.

Please make a contribution and help us bridge the gap. Please return this letter with your donation. (Be sure to keep a copy for your records)
